LOCAL TALENT Christy Crowl

Debut CD review by Dona Baluyut

Studio City resident Christy Crowl is a soloist who marches forward with inspiration radiating around her. Her debut CD is a pool of jazzy and classical tunes with lyrics into which you are compelled to dive. Her voice, so angelic, brings out the child in all of us. Highly involved in and supportive of the arts, she sings, writes, and composes from the heart.

Christy has been playing piano and singing since the age of four. She has won numerous honors and awards throughout her life, and has performed at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, the Salzburg Festival in Austria, to name a few, played with major international symphonies, and toured with many theatrical productions nationally.

Three of her songs, "Pardon Me," "Beautiful," and "I See Light" are all the treacle you need to coax you into a safe haven. You will find her music in the category of "excellence." Now pursuing her Doctor of Music Arts degree at USC in piano and filmscoring as a Van Lear Scholarship recipient. The Cd Release party took place at Entourage in NoHo this month. www.christycrowl.com.
